Mrs. Galbraith,

Go Home, Ont.

Dear Mrs. Galbraith:

At a meeting of the Board of Governors held yesterday afternoon it was cordially agreed to ask you to accept a continuance of the payments of the late Dean's salary till the month of December of this year. The Board are conscious that this is but a slight recognition of the debt the University and the Province owes to Dr. Galbraith, and they only regret that the present state of the funds of the University make it impossible for them to show some more substantial recognition of their gratitude to him for the work that he did.

I may say also that the Board very gladly offers you the desk, chair and carpet and book case used by the late Dean, and if you will notify us on your return to the city where you would like to have them sent, they will be delivered.

May I again assure you as I did in my letter from Norway that the death of the Dean has created a great blank in our midst, and that personally I shall miss him very much during the coming winter. The real value of his work will be felt the longer we have to consider how it is now to be carried on. With kind regards, I am,

Yours sincerely,

President.

Dear President Falconer

Will you kindly convey to the Board of Governors our appreciation of their kindess as mentioned in your letter of September Eleventh.

I also wish to thank you and Dr. Falconer, for your very kind letters written from Worcester, and for the many other things you have done for us so recently.

The multitude of friends,
which my dear husband made, during his life at the University have been the greatest comfort to us all at this time of sorrow,

I am

Sincerely Yours

Emily Galbraith.
